STX

GOLF

Technology.... Yes, it can make you a better golfer and a better putter. STX, located in Baltimore, Maryland single-handedly changed the game of lacrosse forever in the mid 1970s with their use of technology and are slowly working towards changing the game of golf too. The STX line of putters have been used to win 12 PGA Tour events as well as numerous top tens. The latest model to come out of the Baltimore studio is the Sync Series. Each Sync series putter is equipped with F.E.E.L. technology (Friction Enhancing Elastomer Layer) inserts. It has been said that even a blindfolded golfer can feel the difference between an STX putter and any other. What does having the softest insert in the business mean to you and I? Well, the ball starts rolling forward much better (and feels great), has decreased skid after impact (and feels great), which allows the ball to maintain the line you have chosen at the pace you have chosen. (Did I mention the feel?) There are eight different Sync series models to choose from, featuring a deep black PVD finish to minimize glare and provide added confidence. Say what you want about the long ball, everybody knows "chicks dig the birdie putt". If you want the softest insert in the game to provide superior control, positive feel and decrease skidding, STX may be for you. Stop by Ruddo's Golf in West OC, Fenwick Island and Lewes, DE to check out the STX line of clubs and start Sync-ing more putts!

STYLE. PERFORMANCE. ENJOY.

THE XFORM SERIES Official Putter of the Tour on the Shore.
Used by the 2011 Tour on the Shore Player of the Year.

ART SHELL UMES CELEBRITY GOLF CLASSIC

The forecasted rain held off, providing a beautiful mid-June day for the Art Shell UMES Celebrity Golf Classic held at Great Hope Golf Course in Westover, Md. The pro football hall of famer and university alum hosted a field of 136 local golfers and 34 former athletes and celebrities to help raise funds for his alma mater's athletic and PGA-accredited Professional Golf Management programs.

Shell created the tournament some 20 years ago. The event features a pairing party the night before tee-off and 18 holes of golf with food and drink on the course followed by an awards dinner. Awards are given for the top three scores for men's and women's players along with closest to the pin and longest drive. The past two years have also featured a Junior Golf Tournament the day before the Classic.

Thanks to the celebrities, players and sponsors for making 2012 another memorable tournament.

JOHN BARRETT & CRAIG LYNCH

Barrett Chevrolet of Berlin, MD recently presented the keys for a brand new 2012 45th Anniversary Edition Camaro SS to Craig Lynch of Ocean City, MD. Barrett Chevrolet, an established Chevy dealer in the Delmarva area, provided hole-in-one prizes on four different par-3 holes for the Ocean City Golf Club's Member-Guest Golf Tournament held the weekend of July 6th and 7th, 2012. Each hole-in-one on the designated car holes, wins a new car. Lynch was the only golfer during the 2-day tournament to get a hole-in-one. Lynch, an employee of D3Corp in West Ocean City, has been a member of the Ocean City Golf Club for over 10 years.

There are a total of 36 holes between the Seaside course and the Newport Bay Course; eight par-3's between the two courses, four par-3's with cars. The hole in which Lynch had scored a hole-in-one was one sponsored by Irie Radio 98.1.

The hole also marked the first car to ever be given away during the Ocean City Golf Club's Member-Guest Tournament.

"People rarely make a hole-in-one. To make that shot on that day, on that hole, for that prize, at that yardage is quite an accomplishment and a spectacular achievement," said Buddy Sass, PGA professional at the Ocean City Golf Club. After riding down Main Street in Berlin in the red and black vehicle during the Berlin Bathtub Races with John Barrett, Lynch rode off into the sunset with his children buckled into the backseat of the car.

OCEAN CITY GOLF CLUB MEN'S MEMBER-GUEST Tournament

It was another unforgettable golf championship! 168 players competed for the title of Champions! After 2 days of brutal weather and inspiring golf, 14 teams emerged with an opportunity to be called Tournament Champions. In the end, Frank Phillips and guest, Ron Rider were crowned this year's winners. Phillips' 6 iron to two feet was certainly the shot of the event. Each year the winner receives a jacket, nameplate on the club's wall plaque, and the crystal. This year's championship only added to the mystique of the area's best event!

JOHN LYNCH, PGA TEACHING PROFESSIONAL

My name is John R. Lynch and I have been a member of the Professional Golfers' Association of America since November of 1998. I attended the Professional Golf Management Program at New Mexico State University from which I graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in December of 1997. I am originally from Selbyville, Delaware but have been living in the Hawaiian Islands since graduating college working in the golf industry. I have been playing golf and enjoying "the ride of the game" we love so much since I was 13-years-old. I have a passion for the sport of golf and I have been blessed with the ability to play the game at a high level. With that capacity, comes the responsibility to spread the knowledge I have attained over the years to the future of the game.

Among the career highlights I am most proud of is the 2007 Aloha Section PGA Teacher of the Year award and the 2005 and 2009 Aloha Section PGA Player of the Year award. My fervor for the game of golf permits me to teach/instruct with a great deal of excitement. I am devoted to grow the game of golf with the youth in the community and I love having the opportunity to teach and coach them on a daily basis. I have been working with adults and juniors since I turned professional and having played junior golf myself, I know the importance of a good golf role-model. My incentive and inspiration is to not only coach adults and juniors, but to see them succeed. That is my raison d'être in serving as a mentor to golfers alike. I appreciate the opportunity to be a part of the community of The Peninsula.

COACH'S CHALKBOARD

DELMARVA PENINSULA GOLF ASSOCIATION

In 1927, members from Delmarva's golf clubs felt there was a need to form an organization that would share and handle the common interests of all clubs. This new organization was to be called "The Peninsula Golf League. In 1929, the League was reorganized under the name of "The Peninsula Golf Association" and as new clubs were built and the Association's membership grew, the name was eventually changed to its current form - the "Delmarva Peninsula Golf Association."

With the help of Don Falls (Chester River) and Bill Long (Elks), a Junior Program was begun around 1950 and has mushroomed in the 90's. Not only has the amount of juniors participating increased, but the Junior Scholarship Program, which began in 1976, has become a business that requires a subsidiary to the D.P.G.A. The leadership has done an outstanding job over the years promoting junior golf and providing youngsters an opportunity to compete throughout the peninsula during the summer months. By far, the most money spent by the D.P.G.A. is in the Junior Program. Trophies and valuable scholarships are given annually to young men and women; at the same time, young golfers are being taught to enjoy and respect the game of golf.

The Bayside South Conference is proud of the accomplishments of many local high school golfers who participated this past summer in the DPGA Junior events. We encourage high school players to get involved with the DPGA.

THE GOOD SLUMP.

BY ROB McDONALD

It can start with one bad shot or a few putts that slip by the edge of the cup. They don't seem like much at first, but they don't seem to go away. One round turns into two. Two becomes a month's worth. One month becomes a season. Now you realize it. You're in a slump.

If you take this game seriously, you're bound to go through a slump at some point in your golfing career. While no one enjoys it, it can be a good thing. It is a signal that maybe its time to take out the microscope look at the ingredients of your game. Maybe you're ready for something to change. You know there were areas that needed improvement, but you were able to play through it. No More.

The best thing to do is to go to a trained professional. If you have a regular teacher or coach, go to him or her. You can spend a lot of extra time trying to figure it out yourself, but they know your swing and can see what you need to do to improve. Or, it may be time to try someone new that can give you a different perspective. Either way, it's time to get to work. Go back to the basics as they say. Check your grip, your stance, alignment, balance and rhythm. Do the drills your coach gives you. It's the only shortcut. Work on things that promote success, thus promoting confidence. Hit short shots with easy swings that help you to feel solid contact. Short putts that you can make over and over again. Measure your success by counting how many shots out of ten can hit your target and then, work to improve your percentages. This will work its way onto the golf course. The slump took time to develop, it may take time to overcome. You never know though. You may find out it was something as simple as your balance or grip pressure and start playing well right away.

The good news about the slump is that you will be a better golfer when you come out of it. You will know more about your swing, the way you approach the game and how you got into the slump to begin with.

TOOLS OF THE TRADE BY STEVE MENZ

LEG WORK

As an instructor I get to evaluate well over 2500 swings every week. One of the common missteps I encounter is a lack of proper leg action in the golf swing. I actually blame the club manufacturers for the missed fundamental. They (the manufacturers) have pushed faster club head speed by making the clubs lighter. This actually encourages arm speed. With a lighter feeling stick in the hands, it encourages the user to swing harder with the upper body. This is usually the last thing you want to do. The result is an inaccurate shot that normally leads to a big slice. "No problem" says the club maker. We will develop "offset" clubs that literally help square the club head through impact eliminating left to right spin that comes from an arm swing that travels outside to inside. They promise more distance through club head speed, but what they fail to tell you is that they have de-lofted the irons to make it seem you are hitting it farther. The best way to achieve more distance is by learning proper leg work. Your legs are, on average, 3 times stronger than your arms. The swing starts from the ground up. Having a good leg foundation leads to good balance and straighter, more powerful shots while using less effort. This is exactly why a golf professional's swing looks smooth and effortless. They have learned to swing the club by using their core and driving with their legs. Of course you remember Tiger winning the 2008 U.S. Open with a "broken leg". He won in a playoff with Rocco Mediate on "one leg" the media touted. Tiger fractured his leg by firing his hips from his right side to his left and putting years of strain on his left knee. I am sure this stress fracture had been accumulating for years. But it is a sure sign of a proper golf swing that is done by turning the hips and pushing off of the right side. This is exactly why I only buy golf shoes that have spikes located under the big toe joint and the big toe. This is the most important pressure point in the golf swing. GRATUITOUS PHYSICS ALERT: The absence of any arm swing creates centripetal force that places the weight of your body into the club. Centrifugal to centripetal force are opposites. Centrifugal force throws the weight away from your body's center while centripetal force helps find the body's center. David had a rock (golf ball) tied to a string (golf club) and swung it in a circular motion. The string applies the pressure to the center. Letting go of the string and letting it strike Goliath is centrifugal. If you create better centripetal force in your body, you will gain more centrifugal force and achieve more distance. NAP TIME OVER. Explanation: the faster you turn your hips and let your arms swing the more distance you can generate and it is generated by using your leg strength, not your arm strength.

Tips FROM THE PRO!

THE MODERN bump & run

Back in the olden times, before electricity, oversized drivers, long putters, Tiger Woods, attractive professional women golfers, and crazy long golf balls, there was a shot known as a bump and run. This shot was performed by many a player with deft touch...usually with a 7 iron. With the advent of fast and hard greens, the 64 degree wedge, and tour players with ice in their veins, the bump has all but disappeared...replaced by the flop, the low spinner, and the skip and check. The problem is that these new fancy flights require ridiculous skill, nerve, and lots and lots of practice.

The bump and run is making a comeback...with a twist. The hybrid clubs are all the rage, and players are finding all kinds of ways to use them...including the bump. The shot is simple, error proof, does not require crazy skills, and needs only a little practice to get the hang of.

Basically, all you need to do is "putt" the ball with a hybrid iron. Obviously, this will not work if you need to go over a bunker, deep rough, or small children, but it works great for running shots through the fairway up on to the green.

Set up just as you would a putt, choke down the shaft to make the club short...like your putter (no offense), and stroke the shot just like a "putt". Keep your body quiet (shhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh) and still, and just swing your arms and shoulders in a simple putting stroke. That's it. It's that easy, and it's just as accurate and reliable as a putt...but with much greater distance potential...especially when going through many yards of fairway or fringe.

If you're feeling saucy, you can set up more like a chip with your weight and hands forward, though I personally like the more level stroke made from the putting set up. Your option...and make sure you try this new option of an old shot...with a hybrid twist.

INTERNSHIPS

Key to Success for PGA Golf Management Students

The PGA of America requires that all PGA Golf Management students complete at least 16 months of full-time cooperative internship work prior to graduation. This cooperative internship work must take place at facilities recognized as eligible employment by the PGA of America.

"All students must work for a member of the PGA of America throughout their respective internships", said Chris Prosser, Internship Coordinator at UMES. "The idea is to have the students work at different types of facilities whether it is private, public, resort, or military and by the time they are seniors they should have a good idea of the type of facility that fits them best for the future", added Prosser.

By completing co-op/internship assignments, students receive on-the-job training and academic credit. Anthony Long, a junior at UMES stated, "We learn a lot in the classroom but there is no replacement for hands on learning. From running tournaments to fixing golf cars and dealing with customer relations issues, the internships really prepare us for our initial Assistant Professional position".

The UMES PGA Golf Management staff and students would like to thank the following facilities for their support of our internship program and helping us train the next generation of PGA Professionals.

UMES PGA Golf Management student, George Roy IV, shows Bill Haraway, 69, of Frederick, how to tee off with one hand. George completed his internship working with the Salute Military Golf Association based out of Gaithersburg, MD.

YOU KNOW THE DRILL

BY STEVE MENZ

SHOW OF HANDS?

Having troubles with the YIPS? Try an oversized putter grip. The grip itself stops you from "squeezing" the putter grip and hitting the putt with your hands. It encourages a shoulder or core putting stroke allowing the putter to do its job without the outside influence of your hands. You should try taping a hand towel tightly around your grip and hitting some putts on the practice green or in the living room. You will immediately notice a lighter grip pressure that lets you putt freely. Now, you know the drill.

MATT RUGGIERE

Keep the name of Matt Ruggiere in your mind as someone to watch in the upcoming years. This 16 year old Stephen Decatur High School junior is making a name for himself on the golf circuit. He had his fourth win this month at an Elks tournament held in Seven Springs Resort, PA on July 23rd and 24th. There were players from DC, MD, DE, PA, TN, VA and KY. Matt competed against approximately 50 players from MD, DC and VA, taking first. Matt also just came in first in a DPGA tournament recently held at the Caroline County Country Club in Denton, MD, his fourth in a row in this series. Matt credits Matt McWilliam for helping him with his game. Congratulations to a fine young man, as well as a great golfer.

WE'RE WATCHING YOU MATT!

Regional Apparel Representative for Nike Golf

My name is John Yeatman, Jr and I am the Regional Apparel Representative for Nike Golf. I have been with Nike for over 13 years and have witnessed and been a part of a sea of change in the golf industry. It has been a wild ride and I look forward to more great things to come from this highly competitive environment. I service all of the state of Maryland, Washington DC, and half of Delaware, and recently relocated to the Eastern Shore in June with my wife, Bethann, and our three kids. I have a daughter, Megan, 14, and twin boys who are just now 5, Graham and Gavin. We love it here!

At Nike, we work with the best athletes in the World to help us develop the best product in the World. We gain critical insight into what works and doesn't work in apparel, footwear, and equipment from the "Best of the Best" before we bring it to the field of play for competition or to the consumer market. All of the great ads you remember wouldn't stick if they weren't true. If the product doesn't support the claims made or emotions that get stirred up, then we have failed. We won't ever let that happen. We continue to innovate and push boundaries and break through walls because it is in our DNA.

Nike DriFIT as most people now know is a technical fabric that wicks moisture away from the skin to the outer layer of a garment. In doing, this evaporation is aided by spreading the perspiration over a greater area of the material and away from your skin. Did you know that Nike DriFIT technology is now 22 years old? Do you know what the FIT stands for in DriFIT, ThermoFIT, and StormFIT? Functional Innovative Technology is a whole philosophy of performance that has been around for decades!

As we continue to evolve and innovate in 2012, you will recognize our great attention to detail, consistent fit, superior color fastness and wear... and, of course, the unmistakable style that is Nike Golf. Whether it is our Premium line, the Tiger Woods Collection, Tour Performance and Outerwear, Ladies, or the Youth Apparel line, we have something for every golfer. Ask your local PGA Professional for more information on how you can best benefit from Nike Golf Apparel and Equipment today!

COACH'S CHALKBOARD

GREEN HILL THE "GRAND DADDY" OF THE BAYSIDE SOUTH

Several years ago, I accepted a new role as chairman of the Bayside South, being passed down from my predecessor and mentor, Mr. Butch Waller when he retired. I quickly gained an enormous appreciation for the generosity and hospitality shown to the kids from numerous local golf course professionals and course owners. It didn't take long to realize that without their benevolence and support, high school golf would not be as successful as it is today. With few exceptions, golf is one of the only high school sports that rely upon the business community for a playing facility. Which brings me to the point of this article and a message of thanks and good luck that the Bayside South Golf Conference extends to an old friend and major supporter of high school golf; Green Hill Yacht & Country Club in Quantico, Maryland.

Green Hill is going through a reorganizing phase. Many courses throughout the eastern shore have felt the pinch of a sluggish economy and some have even been forced to close their doors. If I can help any of the courses which support high school kids and the Bayside Conference, I am quick to answer the call.

Dating back to the early 60's Wicomico County had no formal H.S. golf programs and there were only a couple of local high schools with a team (Pocomoke, Snow Hill, & Stephen Decatur). After the birth of the Bayside Conference in the late 60's Butch Waller and Dr. Neil Haldeman, along with several interested parents got together and were consequently able to get H.S. golf started at Wicomico, James M. Bennett, & Mardela High School, with Parkside joining later upon opening. One of the main stumbling blocks in getting this program off the ground was where the kids were going to practice and play. After meeting with the Green Hill board of directors it was established that all Wicomico Co. H.S. golf teams would be allowed to practice and play some matches at their facility and eventually host Bayside and District championships as well....AT NO CHARGE! Needless to say, without Green Hill's support and generosity, the local H.S. programs that are flourishing today would not have been possible without the pioneering support of Green Hill. In the ensuing years the Bayside Conference golf program grew into what it is today; a complete 18 school, outstanding golf conference, unlike any other in the state!

Thanks to Green Hill Yacht and Country Club, which proved to be a vital "player" in the development of High School golf on the Eastern Shore, all of the high school golfers on the eastern shore of Maryland have an amazing conference to showcase their talent. The Bayside Conference wishes them the most success with their reorganization plan and thanks them for all the years of support.

Green Hill will offer limited public access to the golf course, pool and clubhouse in a reorganization plan that will also see more affordable membership packages in 2013 and added member benefits. For more information or to schedule a tour or tee time, contact Green Hill at (410) 749-5119.

TOUR ON THE SHORE PLAYER

Like many little boys, Gary grew up loving his Matchbox and Hot Wheels cars. Unlike all of those other little kids, Gary has turned his passion into a cool obsession. Growing up on a farm in the Salisbury area, he was given his first car, a 63 Chevy BelAir, when he was thirteen. His mother gave it to him to drive down their long driveway and retrieve the mail. Gary took his allowance money and used it to refinish the car. Sanding, patching and painting it race car red, his hobby came to form. When he got older he started a business with his best friend, Lee Mason named ClearComm Technologies. The business develops filtering and interference products for cell towers and is now the preferred national supplier to AT&T and Verizon. As the business grew, Gary looked to invest some of his profits into the purchasing of street rods, muscle cars and custom show cars. His collection has grown to one of the biggest and well diversified on the Eastern Shore. He shares his passion with his girlfriend Stephanie, son Brandon and daughter Brittney. Gary has been playing in The Tour on the Shore for the past four years and even won his flight at the Eagles Landing tourney turning in a career round of 77. Gary says, "Local Cruisins' are like the Tour on the Shore, catch up with old friends and meet new ones."

GOLF FITNESS - NUTRITION DR. PETE ZEMO

My article this month is a bit of a take-off from my articles on supplements. It involves the wide spread use of energy drinks. Unlike glucose, which provides the energy we need for muscle activity, the stimulants in energy drinks bind to neurons and activate them. This causes you to burn glucose more rapidly and creates the feeling you have more energy; this is only temporary. When the glucose is gone, your bodily fuel for activity is gone. Have you ever carefully examined the ingredient labels of energy drinks? Many will simply say it contains a "proprietary energy blend" and list what this contains, but you usually don't know how much of each ingredient you are getting. Let's look at a list of common ingredients found in these drinks or powders:

YOHIMBE – A STRONG STIMULANT AND CONTRAINDICATED IN PEOPLE WITH LIVER, KIDNEY AND HEART DISEASE.

BETA – PEA (BETA-PHENYLETHYLAMINE) – SIMILAR TO AMPHETAMINES.

1,3 DIMETHYLAMINE HCL – HAS CAUSED FATALITIES IN THIS COUNTRY.

METHYLSYNEPHRINE – ALSO KNOWN AS OXILOFRINE, A PROHIBITED STIMULANT.

MA HUANG – A PLANT SOURCE OF EPHEDRA, A PROHIBITED STIMULANT.

TYROSINE AND PHENYLALANINE – CAN REACT WITH VARIOUS MEDICATIONS.

GERANIUM – MIGHT BE METHYLHEXANEMINE, A PROHIBITED STIMULANT.

KOLA NUT OR GUARANA – BOTH SOURCES OF CAFFEINE.

SYNEPHRINE HCL – CAN CAUSE ADVERSE CARDIOVASCULAR REACTIONS.

These are just examples, but it should give you the idea. The American Academy of Pediatrics has discouraged the use of energy drinks by children and adolescents.

Details can be found at www.aap.org/advocacy/releases/may3011.

studies. And for a scary real life example, the American College of Sports Medicine refers one to Dakota Sailor's story on ESPN. This high school football star nearly died after drinking two cans of a widely distributed commercial beverage labeled as a "high performance energy drink". All of this should be a wake-up call to people who regularly use this stuff. Except in children, small amounts of caffeine (less than 150mg) can be ergogenic and give you a little boost when you exercise, but even this should be used with caution. At our fitness center, if someone asks me how to get an energy boost, I recommend the use of Isotonix Activated B complex. Its rapidly absorbed (that is what isotonic means) and is all natural – and IT WORKS.

THE MORAL: EMBRACE THE SHANKS!

SHORE UP WITH THE GAME COACH

CARSON LOVETT, MA, SPORT PSYCHOLOGY

"Winning isn't everything, it's the only thing," a sentiment accredited to the great Coach Vince Lombardi by way of Red Saunders, fuels a multidisciplinary debate. In sport, winning is everything, in cases where winning each moment of improvement is balanced with an understanding that within the progression setbacks occur. The setbacks cause us to refocus, to gain knowledge from the feedback, and to approach the next step toward our goals better informed.

After his record performance at the 2012 PGA Championship, an interviewer asked Rory McIlroy which he learned more from, faltering in the 2011 Masters Tournament or later winning his first major championship at the U.S. Open. The current number one golfer in the world responded without doubt that the lessons from losing a final round four shot lead were far more instructive than what he discovered about his golf game by capturing the first major title of his young career. In golf, McIlroy explained, "I think you learn an awful lot more from your mistakes, and from things you've done wrong." Research shows that Rory may be right.

Scientists have identified an area of the brain that sparks more rapidly and with more electrical intensity in the milliseconds immediately after we face something that resulted in us making an error in the past, perhaps signaling the need to make adjustments for future success. Interestingly, studies suggest that those who reportedly believe in learning from mistakes were observed to have more electrical activity in the "Error Center" of the brain when committing errors than those who do not believe they can learn from mistakes. The findings can serve as a useful tool for shaping the training regiment.

Blowin' Smoke with Leif Burnes.™

The Arturo Fuente Company has been in business for one hundred years. It takes quality to stay in business that long. I can honestly say that I have never had a bad Fuente cigar. One of my favorites is the Hemingway series. They tend to be a bit out of my price range for enjoying on the golf course on a regular basis, but every now and then you must treat yourself. Fortunately, someone else treated me this time. Thank you Big Daddy!

These Dominican beauties come with West African Cameroon wrappers with Dominican fillers and binders and are aged for a minimum of six months.

On The Range

The appearance hits you first with its perfecto shape. Fuente allows their most experienced rollers to create only seventy-five per day. The aroma is of a fine leather belt. The wrapper is a nice medium brown with fine veining.

Front Nine

I've always enjoyed the aroma of the Hemingway when someone else was smoking one. There is a slight sweetness about it. The first few draws on mine also carry a bit of the sweetness as well. It is very smooth right from the beginning. There's a creamy earthiness that blends well as the leather continues into the flavor of the smoke

Back Nine

As you make the turn to the back nine a little spiciness makes its way into the blend, but the smoothness is still there. This is a medium bodied cigar so there is very little kick to it. Thus, making it a great cigar for golf. The only downside to this great cigar is that it is a relatively quick smoke. As a result you may have to smoke another one. Ok, maybe it's not a downside!

Don't forget to protect your rights to enjoy cigars on the course as well as anywhere else. Join in the fight against the FDA regulating cigars with Cigar Rights of America at www.CigarRights.org.

RICHARD ROBINSON - INSTRUCTOR: THE ORIGINAL GOLF SCHOOL

Team golf has become a fall theme. This year's major team event is the Ryder Cup. In terms of history, tradition and competition The Ryder Cup is hard to match. It also provides great insights regarding the strategic and psychological aspects of competitive golf.

Championship golfers demonstrate the ability to focus on the shot at hand, and to ignore the circumstances concomitant to making the shot. All golfers experience the self-centered nature of the game. To play well you must focus on your strategic approach to the whole design, your assessment of factors such as distance, line, lie, weather conditions, hazards, club selection, shot trajectory and flight pattern. Having determined the way to play a shot, the challenge is to execute the desired technique without doubt or thought. When in "the zone" shot assessment and decision-making is intuitive, and shot making reflexive. You see the shot and make it, simply and effectively.

An interesting aspect of team golf, especially Ryder Cup foursomes or alternate shot, is the complexity of teammates seeking to achieve the same "zone". In single matches, and even four ball matches, each player is totally responsible for his own performance. The motivation and stress associated with an individual performance contributing to team success or failure is different and greater than in a regular tournament format. Yet, when playing singles or four ball, the game is still exclusively within each player's control. However, in foursomes (alternate shot) each teammate is both dependent upon and directly responsible for their partner's performance. The ability of each teammate to quickly forgive and forget a partner's poor shot and get on with making the best of the shot at hand is an important attitude. The fundamental objective of foursomes is always to leave your partner with an easy next shot. This may seem easy and simplistic, but if so Phil Mickelson and Tiger Woods would be an invincible Ryder Cup team. They have not been.

Observing team play is entertaining but it is also helpful to developing your game management skills. The recreational golfer always seems to play alternate shot team golf. You are a unique team, consisting of your best game and your worst. Apply the basic principles of good team play to yourself. Try to make each shot set up an easy next shot. Keep the tee shot in play even if you hit an iron off the tee. Seek to get close enough to the pin to get up and down in two shots. This may mean playing short of greenside hazard and trying for a pitch and putt, rather than going for the green and two putt, but bringing the hazard into play. Once on the green, try to sink the putt by getting the ball close. If you miss the first, try to insure the second is a tap in. Most of all forgive the person who made the bad shot and quickly forget it, as you focus on making the next shot great.

JUNIOR GOLF LEAGUE - BLUE HERON GOLF COURSE

The Blue Heron Golf Course holds a Junior Golf League every Tuesday from 10:00am - 12:00pm while school is out for the summer. The league includes 9 holes of golf, balls, tees, clubs and a pizza lunch afterwards. Members of the Blue Heron Senior League come out to supervise and help the kids along. The league is open to kids ages 8 - 15 and costs $5.00 per week. The league averaged 50 participants each week. This is the 4th year for the league and participation has been growing each year. It is a great way for kids who play golf to meet up with other kids and have some fun. For more information on the league or junior golf camps visit the Blue Heron's website at www.blueherongolf.org or call 410-643-5721.

E n d l e s s GOLF

BY BOBBY VERMILLION

a simple thank you

Over the past few months I have had the opportunity to play in several events that I look forward to playing in every year. As a participant in these events I wanted to take this opportunity to recognize all of the staff members for putting on such tremendous events! often, as participants, we forget the work and planning that goes into putting on a golf tournament. So with that in mind here is a little peek into just some of what it takes to put on a successful golf event. Let's start with the golf course! The superintendent and his staff are vital! Often they work weeks and sometimes months to prepare the course for a member-guest or a big event. Course condition and set up are paramount to making an event successful and sets the tone for the tournament. Next, the golf professional staff works tirelessly to make sure the event is organized and that each participant has everything they need to enjoy the event. Another major component is food and beverage. From creating a menu to the presentation and let's not forget providing great service with a smile. Last but not least is the staff that works the bag drop, range and does all of the things behind the scenes that the average golfer takes for granted. So the next time you play in an event, make it a point to treat the staff with respect and thank them for all the hard work they put into making the tournament a success. It may be a small gesture...but it will mean a lot.

MARTHA BADRIAN, MARGE WIDDER AND FRAN SMALL

June 21st dawned bright and sunny----a perfect day for Golf. And perfect it was as 148 men and women played in the seventh annual 1st State Detachment Marine Corps League golf tournament at Ocean City Golf Club's Seaside Course. The combined efforts of The Marine Corps League volunteers, the entire staff of the Ocean City Golf Course and the many sponsors and donors added to the enjoyment of the tournament for all. The combined efforts and generosity of many makes it possible for the 1st State Detachment Marine Corps League to continue and expand their efforts to support all veterans of the Armed Forces and their families in their immediate needs and thereafter. It also allows our Marine Corps League to sustain its mission to charitable organizations, youth activities along with overall help in the areas we serve when called upon. The 1st State Detachment Marine Corps League serves lower Sussex County in Del and northern Worcester County in Maryland and even beyond.

CLINIC

WITH FRANK LABER, PGA MASTER PRO

Instruction focused on one of five skills: full swing, pitch shot, chip shot, putt, and bunker shot; based on individual skill level.

"I applaud the ladies of this group for their enthusiasm and their willingness to learn. They are engaged, ask great questions, and want to improve their game. Learning to play golf is a process; whether you are a beginner or a tour player, it is all about game improvement." - Frank J. Laber, PGA Master Professional

"Since the inception of our Eastern Shore Chapter of the Executive Women's Golf Association (EWGA) in 1996, the PGA Golf Professionals and local golf courses, including most recently, Frank Laber, have been exceptionally helpful in providing golf instruction, clinics, and discounted rates in an effort to support women in golf. Nancy Dofflemyer and I organized our Chapter with the help of former River Run PGA Golf Professional, Bob Baldassari; we introduced the game to 35 new golfers and have grown to a membership of close to 300 women! I have served on the Board of our Chapter for 17 years and am very proud to have the expertise and patience of this fine PGA Golf Professional and friend, Frank Laber. Thank you Frank, for making us better golfers."
Judy Johnson Schoellkopf

"Each week after the clinic I ask Frank how it went ... he smiles, as only Frank can do, and says to me, 'Wow, we really had fun!'" Frank's wife, Sue

"It is because I enjoy playing golf so much that I want to be a better player. The best way to do that is to learn to play the right way from the beginning. I have enjoyed the clinics very much." Beth O'Mally

"I believe learning and practicing the game of golf the right way from a PGA Golf Professional who really cares, can make all the difference! This has been especially true of the local EWGA girls in our clinics this summer. Let's face it, golf is a hard game and learning the right way from the beginning increases players' success, makes the game more fun, and we are encouraged to stick with it. As the education chair, my goal is to continue to grow the EWGA membership; I think the generous, wonderful golf professionals that we have on the Eastern Shore, help to make this happen. We are truly blessed!!!"

2012 THE GREENBRIER CLASSIC

The Greenbrier
CLASSIC

TED POTTER, JR.

Ted Potter Jr., a 28-year-old native of Ocala, FL, entered the final round trailing Webb Simpson by four strokes, but posted a 6-under 64 (including a birdie-eagle finish) to end regulation at The Greenbrier Classic at 16-under 264, tied with Troy Kelly (66). Potter then birdied the third playoff hole (the par-3 18th) for his first-career win.

FINAL-ROUND LEADERBOARD

TED POTTER JR.	69-67-64-64-264	(-16)*
TROY KELLY	69-67-62-66-264	(-16)
CHARLIE WI	67-66-68-65-266	(-14)
CHARLIE BELJAN	70-62-67-67-266	(-14)

* Wins with a birdie-2 on the third extra hole over Troy Kelly

Earns a spot in the British Open based on finishing among the top 2 players on a cumulative money list that began at THE PLAYERS

Championship and ran through The Greenbrier Classic (see below for more information).

Wins in the second playoff at The Greenbrier Classic. Last year, Scott Stallings defeated Bob Estes and Bill Haas with a birdie-2 on the first extra hole. Wins in the eighth playoff of the season.

All three Greenbrier Classic winners have posted comeback wins (Stuart Appleby, Scott Stallings, Ted Potter Jr.).

Ted Potter wins at the age of 28 years, 7 months, 29 days. He is the 10th player in his 20s to win this season, with his win the 11th by that group.

Potter entered the week ranked No. 218 in the Official World Golf Ranking. His win comes in his 16th start on the PGA TOUR. His previous-best finish was a T13 at his season-opening Sony Open in Hawaii.

Potter is the sixth first-time winner of the season and the second rookie to win (John Huh/Mayakoba Golf Classic).

Potter earned a berth on TOUR in 2012 by virtue of his second-place finish on the 2011 Web.com Tour money list. It was there where he won twice (South Georgia Classic, Soboba Golf Classic). His 2011 season on the Web.com Tour was quite a contrast from his first. In 2004, he missed the cut in all 24 events he entered.

RAY TARANTO & TOM WATSON

Troy Kelly, a 34-year-old native and resident of Tacoma, WA, carded a final-round 4-under 66 but came up short against Ted Potter Jr. on the third extra hole at The Greenbrier Classic. The runner-up finish comes in his 34th start on TOUR and is his first top-25 finish. Kelly's previous-best effort was T37 at the 2012 Mayakoba Golf Classic.

THE PENINSULA JUNIOR CLASSIC AJGA TOURNEY

Ryan Cole of Mount Airy, Md., made up two shots on the final three holes to finish the tournament at 2-over-par 218 and force a playoff he would ultimately win. Elisabeth Bernabe of Anaheim Hills, Calif., played bogey-free golf through the final nine holes to finish the tournament at even-par 216, good for an eight-shot win in the Girls Division. Conducted by the American Junior Golf Association, The Peninsula Junior Classic was a 54-hole stroke play competition played on the par-72, The Peninsula Golf & Country Club. The event featured 72 boys and 24 girls, ages 12-18, from 16 states and five countries. The Boys Division played the course at 6,958 yards while the Girls Division played the course at 5,881 yards.

Cole approached the 16th hole two shots behind Gustavos Morantes of Caracas, Venezuela, but made birdie to gain a shot and then made a nice up-and-down par on No. 17 to tie for the lead. Both players parred No. 18, leading to a sudden-death playoff. "I kept battling back," Cole said. Cole left himself a six-foot birdie putt on the first playoff hole, only to see Morantes sink a 20-foot birdie putt of his own. With the pressure on, Cole calmly made birdie to force a second playoff hole, in which he would ultimately claim victory.

"I came here to win, and there for awhile, it seemed like there was no way I could pull it off," Cole said. "It feels really awesome."

In the Girls Division, Bernabe made the turn tied for the lead, but caught fire on the back nine, shooting 2-under-par to win going away. The rising senior said she anticipated her first win coming with a higher dose of nerves.

"I was able to go out there and have fun with the round," Bernabe said. "It was actually pretty relaxing." Bernabe credits a gut feeling as the reason for traveling cross country to play in The Peninsula Junior Classic. "A lot of people asked why I wanted to play in Delaware. It just seemed cool."

MESSAGE FROM RUARK GOLF

From the Superintendents:

As Fall quickly approaches, golf courses throughout the Ocean City area and the Eastern Shore are beginning their preparations for the fall golf package season. As part of that process, most golf courses have planned aerification, sand topdressings, and seeding procedures that will help the golf courses recover from the long summer. The ultimate goal is to make sure the turf will be healthy and in great condition for the fall golf season. Although the playing surfaces will be disrupted for a short period, these procedures are necessary in order to maintain the long term goals and health of the turf.

We in the grass growing business like to relate it to changing the oil in your car and having preventative maintenance done. Not all courses are created equal so every course will do something a little differently than the next. Many of these practices are dictated by the design of the course, soils, turf types, and the facility's individual budgets and goals. Just like any living thing, turf also needs a little TLC once in a while and late August-early September is the best time. So please show your support and patience for the golf course superintendents as they begin their fall preparations and remember to thank the grounds staff as they work hard to provide the best conditions that they can each and every day. It's also a great time to take advantage of some discounted rates during the aerification season and enjoy some courses you may have always wanted to try for the first time.
