BY BILLY DILLON Updates: University of Maryland Eastern Shore PGA Golf Management Program

THIS ISSUE DEDICATED IN LOVING MEMORY JERRY CUMMINGS."

Gerald John Cummings was a man beloved by his family, friends and all those who experienced life with him. "Jerry" always put family first, epitomized what can be accomplished through hard work with his passion for building and in his down time you would find him on the water, on the golf course and listening to music. Born the son of John & Lorainne Cummings, Jerry was raised in Eastchester, NY with his sisters Pattie and Debbie where he spent his childhood playing sports and at a very young age taking on responsibilities as the man of the house. Jerry's life changed on April 28, 1974 when he married his high school sweetheart, Patty. They went on to raise two sons, Brian and Craig, where they would remain in Eastchester until 1999. Jerry, a man of action, pursued his lifelong dream to live on the water where he enjoyed the next 17 years of his life in Ocean City, MD as a project developer and owner of Pierside Builders. As Jerry transitioned to life at the beach, he grew a true appreciation for the simple things in life. Taking his boat to Assateague with his boys and grandchildren and playing golf at Ocean City Golf Club with his friends. Jerry is survived by his wife, Patty, his son and daughter in laws, Brian and Aimee, Craig and Erin and his four grandchildren Carter, Cole, Emma and Kyle. Jerry's legacy will also be carried on through his sisters Pattie, Debbie and his in laws Al, Eric, Bob, JoAnn and Nancy.

The Gina Maria Barnes Warriors Foundation was established in 2014. Gina was a resident of Carroll County, wife, and mother of three, who was highly involved and well respected in her community. Gina was diagnosed with colon cancer in 2012 and after a courageous battle in which she demonstrated faith, grace, and poise; she was called to God's arms in November 2013. Throughout her battle, the outpouring of community support for her and her family was overwhelming. In gratitude for this support and to continue Gina's legacy, the Gina Maria Barnes Warriors Foundation was established.

The foundation's purpose is to keep the memory and legacy of Gina Maria Barnes alive through charitable giving in the community. Each year the Gina Maria Barnes Warriors Foundation, a Fund of the Community Foundation of Carroll County, Inc., provides charitable support through college scholarships to Carroll County high school students and The Comfort Fund. All of these endeavors are made possible by the generous donations of people and local businesses to support the foundation's fundraising efforts.

Ocean Pines Golf Club was recently selected to receive a $2,500 grant from the Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers' Association Foundation. The grant was awarded by the Professional Golfers' Association Middle Atlantic Joint Player Development and Junior Golf Committees so that Ocean Pines can continue to grow the game of golf and introduce it to new players.

Ocean Pines PGA Director of Golf John Malinowski said, "We've seen tremendous growth in the golf programs at Ocean Pines, especially with our junior golfers. Registration in our golf clinics and camps continues to reach or even exceed capacity, so interest in the sport is definitely out there. This grant will allow us to purchase equipment to expand our programs and make them even more appealing."

The grant was awarded specifically to purchase SNAG ("Starting New at Golf") equipment, which features oversized clubs and balls and other teaching aids designed to simplify golf for those who haven't played before as well as introduce a fun element for those already familiar with the game.

In addition to augmenting existing golf instructional programs, the SNAG equipment will allow Ocean Pines to offer new events. "'We're really looking forward to planning some SNAG outings and tournaments. Because the SNAG concept makes golf easy and fun, these events will help us engage golfers and non-golfers, adults and children alike," Malinowski said.

Ocean Pines Golf Club is an 18-hole championship golf course and the only one on Maryland's Eastern Shore designed by Robert Trent Jones, Sr. It is open to the public year-round and is also available for outings and tournaments. More information is available at OceanPinesGolf. org or by calling 410-641-6057. [Photos courtesy of SNAG Golf.]

Towson men's golf season is now less than a month away from opening.

The Tigers will open their season on March 2, playing in the Bethune-Cookman Invitational at LPGA in Daytona Beach, Florida. All eight Tiger golfers will participate in the event. This will be a return trip, as Towson played in the event last year and found it to be a great opportunity to compete and prepare for what promises to be a challenging spring schedule.

Once the BCU event is complete, the Tigers will compete in the Lonnie Barton Invitational, also at LPGA on March 6 and 7. The Barton is a tournament which the Tigers have had great success including a 2008 Team Championship. The event is named for the late LIU Coach Lonnie Barton, who is frequently credited for building a strong Blackbird program.

"These two back to back events provide us a great opportunity to get the spring season off to a great start. We will use these events as a springboard to what we hope will be a memorable season. We are happy with the addition of Jake Hormes to our roster, giving us additional depth." Said Coach Yaniger.

The spring is filled with great challenges. After the two above mentioned events, the Tigers will head to Kingsmill to play in William and Mary's event. We will then return to Prospect Bay for our home event, then travel to Manor Golf Club in Farmville, VA for the Longwood and close the regular season at the prestigious Rutherford on Penn State's Blue Course.

"On a team, such as we are, loaded with seniors, this schedule will give our 5 seniors a chance to close out their collegiate careers in a memorable fashion. We will be playing great golf courses competing with great fields and representing Towson admirably. Our younger players will have the opportunity to build on fall success as their collegiate careers move forward." According to Yaniger.

You are able to follow the Tigers at towsontigers.com to get the most up to date individual and team statistics. For the 11th consecutive year, the Towson Spring Invitational will be hosted at Prospect Bay Country Club in Grasonville, MD. We are excited to see the legacy of this tournament grow, as the history includes three PGA Tour winners, Mackenzie Hughes, Billy Hurley and Keegan Bradley.

This year we will have a 120 player field which includes 22 teams and 10 individual competitors. Geographically, the teams will come from as distant as New Hampshire (St. Anselm) to Daytona Beach (Bethune-Cookman). We will have teams from The Ivy League, The Colonial, The Patriot League, The NEC, The MAAC, The MEAC and others. Play will commence on Saturday March 25 and finish on Sunday March 26. Admission is free and we invite you to come out and support the Tigers.

This tournament also represents an opportunity for our Alums and Donors to financially support our program. Hole sponsorships are available for $250.00. The funds raised from this effort are used to enhance our program with expenses such as spring break and warm weather practice sites, upgrades to our indoor facility, additional equipment which falls outside of the university provided gear and additional recruiting funds.

According to Coach Yaniger, "Our alums and donors have been generous over the years and our program has progressed in direct proportion to the support of our alums. I ask that you take this opportunity to continue to elevate our program through your contributions."

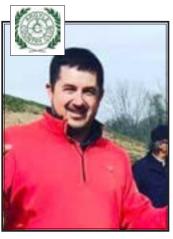

Contributions can be via check or credit card. Please contact coach at byaniger@towson.edu or 410-935-8883 to arrange for your support.

SPRING IS IN THE AIR! A new competitive season is underway and inspiration is everywhere. The mild winter opened the door for early opportunities to get out and play; the Tour on the Shore is happening; the regional champions of The Tour sponsored by Under Armour are raising the bar, making it a nationwide hit; and the flagship University of Maryland started 2017 with a bang as Golfer Panitta Yusabai captured the title in the Lady Puerto Rico Classic, a great start to the new year. How do we keep the good tide rolling? Consider the simple math of a Quiet Mind.

New beginnings fuel optimism. Anything is possible and the prepared athlete carries a high level of confidence into practice and competition. Success supports and bolsters self-assurance and encourages instinctive play. Being primed to focus on task-relevant cues increases the likelihood for positive outcomes and the winning circle has the potential to grow from round to round -- in the Quiet Mind.

A barrage of personal, professional and recreational stimuli will fight for your attention; learn to appraise it, appreciate it and move forward. University of Maryland Women's Golf Coach Diana Cantu noted that Yusabai, a Senior, took a few minutes in the morning to relax and free her mind before her practice rounds, and this technique helped her process feedback more effectively than she had in years and finish the tournament on top. The less than optimal swings, the formidable competition and the unforeseen circumstances make golf the great challenge we love. When the tide turns, stay quiet and roll with it. Access baggage may sink the champion ship.

Now I save myself the hassle of 'shopping around' and just make Ocean City Golf Groups the first and only phone call I make to arrange our annual golf outing. -Tim B. Farmington, CT

"A few years ago, I was thinking about planning a golf trip for myself and a couple of my buddies from college when a friend of my father's suggested I call Ocean City Golf Groups. Now we make it an annual trip to get together and catch up. The rooms are great, the courses can't be beat, and the prices are unbelievable for what we get. I don't even have to ask for any 'extras' because breakfast vouchers and a cocktail hour are included in the package. They just do a great job!"

-Justin C. Pipersville, PA

"Working with Ocean City Golf Groups was a great experience. They made planning a trip for a large group an easy process. They took into consideration that I had players of varying experience and were able to make suggestions that would keep everyone in the group happy. I am beyond pleased with the level of customer service I received."

TOOLS OF THE TRADE BY STEVE MENZ

THE IMITATION GAME

THE"IMITATIONGAME" in golf is a huge industry. Proof can be seen on the tour level every time you watch golf on tv. The players are looking more like Nascar drivers with logos strategically placed with hopes that you, the consumer, will support the companies that enlist your favorite golfer. You see it every year when they announce which golfer has signed a gazillion dollar contract with a major manufacturer. Here is how you can imitate your favorite player without spending thousands on new equipment or clothing. Find slow motion swings of your favorite player and simply screen grab a picture of them at the impact position. Get many different views, such as face on or down the line and you will find the position will be very consistent. The object now is to focus on what the body is doing from the waist down. Most of us fixate on what the club is doing through the swing and miss where the true essence of the swing originates. The down swing happens as a result of the lower body rotation. It is possible when you try mimic proper hip position at impact, you are going to feel some muscles activate that you had no idea were needed for a good golf swing. A very recent study using sensors on the belt line shows that tour players rotate their hips 42 degrees or more towards the target on average compared to their amateur counterparts with scratch handicaps! The number is significantly higher than those with higher handicaps. This report can be found on the "A" Game Golf Academy page on facebook. So to make a major impact on your game this year, imitate the impact of your favorite player and you will not be disappointed!

THE PITCH & RUN makes golf fun!

Developing this shot is a great way to begin the new golfing season for several reasons...

DEVELOPS PROPER IMPACT POSITION AND FEEL FOR ALL SHOTS ENCOURAGES BETTER STRATEGIC DECISIONS ON LONG APPROACH SHOTS

CTIVE IN THE TYPICAL WINDY CONDITIONS OF EARLY SPRING A GREAT WAY TO ATTACK PIN POSITIONS ON UNDULATING GREENS

 ${f S}$ et up with a narrow stance feet nearly together to enable hip and body rotation while minimizing lateral movement. Weight favors the lead foot, and ball position is under your nose, and your hands are slightly forward of the ball. Swing the shaft to a position 45 degrees from the ball, then lead with the hands and maintain a forward shaft lean through impact. Using the familiar clock face visualization, moving the club head back between 7 and 8 o'clock creates enough motion to slightly hinge the wrist. Retuning the club head to the ball so the shaft never passes the lead forearm and the wrists do not hinge forward is proper position for all shots and insures crisp contact. The shot is completed by continuing the arm swing past the ball with body rotation toward the target. This technique creates a low trajectory low spin shot that will land on or near the green and roll to the pin. It is a relaxed shot with gentle knee, hip and body movement much like parallel snow skiing. Let the right knee move to the target and make no attempt to aggressively accelerate or "punch" the shot. Follow through holding the club face open the rollout will be diminished; allow the toe of the club to rotate toward the sky the rollout will be enhanced.

Club selection is typically a 7, 8 or 9 iron. Taking a higher lofted club and slightly exaggerating the forward shaft lean is often helpful to insure the hands lead the club head through impact. This will de-loft the club and reduce the bounce so do not over do this adjustment. The low speed of impact will encourage a low launch of the ball, thus the trajectory of a 7 or 9 iron may be similar for a shot that flies only 10 or 15 yards. Distance control is most affected by the tempo of the swing. Experiment to find your best club, tempo combination and trust it.

 ${f S}$ kill with this shot creates opportunities to play up short of the green and going for a more likely up and down, than from a bunker or green side rough. Wind from any direction must be considered with the high flying wedge, but wind is almost irrelevant for the low pitch and run. High flying shots into undulating greens must be precise. Hit the wrong slope and you are likely to be short or bounce long. Proficiency with the pitch and run diminishes the slope effect and the potential bad bounce. As with any finesse shot you will need practice and experience to dial in your tempo and distance control. But it is easy to do and the results will become a valuable asset in your quest for lower scores.

2017 Scoring Resolution By Rob McDonald

In 2016, out of seventy-five tournament rounds, Lucas Glover, the PGA Tour's leader in Greens in Regulation hit 71.63% of the greens in regulation. So, he hit roughly thirteen out of eighteen greens in regulation. He was ranked 110 on the Leading Money List. The Leading money winner, Dustin Johnson was tied for 43 in Greens in Regulation with 67.82%.

You can garner two things from these statistics. First, the best players in the world only hit the greens in regulation roughly three quarters of the time. Second, even if you're the best at it, it doesn't mean you're going to win. The scoring in golf most often is saved or spent around the green, yet everyone wants to hit their drives longer and irons straighter. This is fine, but your handicap will go down and your match winnings will go up when you become a better short game player. A former world number one ranked player, when he was home off the tour, would only work on his short game. Bubba Watson said he only practices putting. Otherwise, he just plays.

If you want to make 2017 your year for big improvement, you should make a scoring resolution. If you know you need better technique, take some lessons focusing on the short game. There are many excellent PGA Professionals on the Eastern Shore that can help you. Once you learn technique, your practice time will be more beneficial. There are many shots around the green that require imagination. But this only works when its comingled with technique.

Once you have the proper fundamentals in mind, you should practice with measurable results. With measured results, you can see that you are getting better. This leads to confidence and confidence accelerates vour improvement. Measurable results would be, for example, setting a three-foot circle around the hole with tees and counting how many out of ten shots you get in the circle. Try to improve your percentage with each practice session. Try taking one ball, with different clubs and see how many times you can get up and down from different positions around the green. This gives you real life practice for what you will encounter on the course. And again, measure your progress.

If you put your early season focus on becoming a short game wizard, you will not only bring your scores down, you will frustrate your buddies by beating them regularly even though they might hit it farther.

Meet me at the Borre!

By now most of you have heard about the new workout craze, barre fitness classes. Barre was first invented by Lotte Berk, a European ballerina who relocated to NYC and started a studio in Manhattan. Since then, studios have been popping up all over the US, including Barrevolution in Ocean City, MD. Barrevolution (Barre-vo-lution) first opened in Timonium, MD last July and owner, Lara Custer, made the leap to bring this workout to the Eastern Shore.

So, what exactly is barre and how can it benefit golfers? Barre is a low impact workout that combines the strength training aspects of ballet, the flexibility components of yoga, and the core conditioning drills found in Pilates. Although this workout is low impact, don't be fooled by the tiny movements, you will build strength in underused muscles and see results quickly. After just a few classes, there will also be noticeable changes in both posture and flexibility. Immediately following the warmup, the instructor leads the class in a few serious of core and low back strengthening work. From planks to cat-cow yoga stretches, the core is activated and warm, preventing injury before moving to building strength in the limbs. The Barrevolution method provides time to stretch in between sets to elongate muscles and incorporates a long yoga sequence midway through class. Drills and yoga specific postures to open hips and strengthen the low back are so key to more flexibility on the golf course. Core flexibility and rotation is a must, and you will get this benefit wth a barre workout, preventing injury and improving your golf swing. Bonus, you get to take a 5 minute nap at the end of class! "We believe everyone needs a few moments of quiet time everyday, to take a few deep breathes, and reflect, in order to head back into the day (or golf course) mentally stronger.", says Custer.

During the spring and summer months, Barrevolution offers a variety of outdoor classes including "Barre on the boards" Barre and Pilates classes on the deck of the Dunes Manor overlooking the beach! You never know what you might see... dolphins, boats, birds and surfers or just the sound of the sea during savasana; our final resting pose of the morning. Also try SUP classes which are held on stand up paddle boards on the bay of Ocean city MD, a beautiful way to take Barre with the added challenge of being on a paddleboard! We will get you Sculpted-Balanced-Energized to enjoy your beautiful day. If you are planning your next girl's trip or bachelorette party at the beach, don't forget to include us! We do private classes including mats and will travel to your location.

Testimonials:

My journey with Barre began a few years ago at a Women's Retreat my daughter & I attend every year in Maine. My daughter had taken it before, and expressed how much of an awesome workout it was. I thought I would give it a try, and discovered how intense it was. Ocean City did not offer anything like it at the time. I have always been involved in some form of exercise throughout my life, and am always up for new challenges. I was excited to learn that Lara opened Barrevolution in West Ocean City; however, I could not attend due to 2 recent surgeries. I reached out to her and told her when I was able to check it out, I would. I finally got the opportunity to give it a try, and was very pleased with the workout in Jennie's class. It was very intense, and challenging. I found my new workout passion, and have been doing the classes since October, and fully enjoy them. Lara and Jennie are awesome instructors, and totally make you feel at home. I am very excited for the new addition to West Ocean City, and wish them much success!.

Kim Heaney

A note from Jennie Beauchamp, Barre instructor and Personal Trainer:

As we welcome spring, we are thinking of the golfers hitting the links. Did you keep that core in shape over the winter? Well we have just what you're looking for! As a personal trainer and group fitness instructor I have taught Barre, Pilates, Core and Boot Camps. All are great but I now have something to help you gain speed on your swing! It is the TRX Suspension trainer and the TRX Rip Trainer. The TRX Rip Trainer is designed to emphasize on engaging your core locking your spine in neutral position, to reduce your risk of injury and increase your speed and power. The TRX Rip Trainer was designed in mind of the sports that require rotation. While training with me you will be using the TRX Suspension trainer to improve the balance and stability you need for your backswing, just by using your own bodyweight in the trainer. When you are finished with your series of exercises, you will take all this to the greens for a faster and more powerful connection between your club and ball!

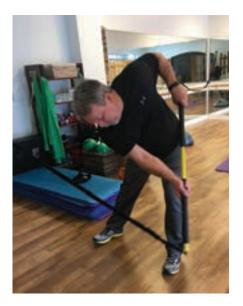

Testimonial:

"I have been doing barre at Barrevolution now for several months. Because I have some real issues with a bad hip and shoulder, this workout seems to fit the bill. It is low-impact, but works - to exhaustion — the larger muscles in your legs and your core. I have seen greater strength in my back, my middle, and in my legs since doing Barre, and my balance and stability have improved as well. I am thinking that this will all translate into a stronger swing when I can start golfing again, and I'm convinced it will help me with my follow-through and my endurance. Plus - it's fun!"

Turn your PASSION into a CAREER

UNIVERSITY of MARYLAND EASTERN SHORE

One of 18 PGA Golf Management Universities in the nation and the only historically black university...

The PGA Golf Management Program at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore is committed to providing quality, technology enhanced education through highly qualified and dedicated faculty and staff in a supportive academic environment that will prepare students for successful careers in the golf industry as well as membership in The PGA of America.

to offer a PGA certified Professional Golf Managment Program.

UMESUPDATE

A handful of the University of Maryland Eastern Shore (UMES) PGA Golf Management students made the annual trip to Orlando, FL to attend the 2017 PGA Demo Day and Merchandise Show. "The Merchandise Show is an excellent opportunity for the students to secure their summer internship. It also gives the program an avenue for fostering new relationships with golf facilities across the country that have never heard of UMES or hosted a UMES student intern,", said Chris Prosser, UMES Internship Coordinator. "For example, we have two students that made the trip to Orlando this year and one student landed his internship at Gozzer Ranch Golf & Lake Club, which is the number one ranked golf facility in Idaho and the other student attained his internship at Manchester Country Club in New Hampshire. These are both new facilities to the program. All it takes to secure these top-notch internships is to be in the booth at the right time when these PGA Professionals come calling. We make sure that the students are properly prepared for on-the-spot interviews with their attire and resume", added Prosser.

The UMES PGA Golf Management Program

has a very busy semester highlighted by the Visitation Day, Carolinas Cup, PGA Minority Championship, and the Cropper Cup/ESGM Hall of Fame Scholarship Banquet. The semester agenda is as follows:

- 3/11 PGA Golf Management Visitation Day: visit www.umes.edu/pgm for details
- 3/12 PGMSA Tournament @ Eagles Landing
- 3/20-24 Spring Break!
- 3/25-26 Carolinas Cup @ Coastal Carolina University

YOU KNOW THE DRILL

BY STEVE MENZ

"DEMO DAYS ARE COMING!"

The season has started and it's time to upgrade your equipment. Before you go online to get a good deal, do yourself a favor. Try the product before you buy it. Did you know that the shaft is the most important component of your golf club. Simply buying a club off the internet can be like throwing money down the drain. Get more bang for your buck. Go to your local golf shop, they have demos for you to try. They will be happy to help you find the best shaft for your swing that optimizes spin. There will be plenty of Demo Days at local clubs hosted by the major manufacturers. If you would like to know when they are, just tune in to Ocean 98 FM every Thursday morning at 8am to here the golf report and we will keep you in the loop!

Now you know the drill!

Now that it appears winter is almost behind us, the time has come to prepare for the upcoming golf season. To this end, I want to review some things I wrote about in past articles that I feel are very important for you to look at again. Be aware that if you hung up the clubs last fall, you can't just pick them up and go right back to the shape your body and game was in at that time. Changes will have occurred in your strength and flexibility; your game will not, in all likelihood, be the same. So you have to do a little training. I will list some of the body areas you should start working on 4-6 weeks before you hit the links.

UPPER BODY- It has been shown numerous times that the big muscles of the upper body are more important for generating club head speed than the muscles below the elbow. This area can be whipped into condition with exercises like pushups, biceps curls and triceps extensions. Doing dips from a chair or bench is also a great strengthener. When you start these exercises, start with a weight or situation that permits you to do at least 15 reps without excessive straining, then increase the degree of difficulty(or weight) as you get stronger. A couple of sets at 8-10 reps should be your goal.

CORE STRENGTH – This involves the muscles of the abdomen and back. Abdominal crunches and back extensions are the classic maneuvers. Or, take classes in pilates at your fitness center.

LOWER BODY – Squats for the quadriceps-gluts and hamstring curls for the back of the leg are the most important.

FLEXIBILITY – Stretching the entire body after you have warmed up and finished your strength exercises is paramount. The overall most effective step is to participate in some yoga classes. Contrary to what you might think, anyone can do it; it is just a matter of only doing as much as you can comfortably. As I have said before, the old maxim "no pain, no gain" does not apply to general conditioning.

If you are unsure about the things listed or how to accomplish them, my most prudent advice is to consult with a qualified trainer. The time and effort you expend will be more than worth it – and, your game will definitely thank you.
